MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Intelligence

FROM : Executive Assistant to the DDCI

SUBJECT : Meeting with the Deputy Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, 1 September 1982

During the DDCI's 1 September meeting with the Deputy Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, McFarlane mentioned that he wondered how long the French economy could last the way Mitterand was treating it. Would you please have your people pull together a paper on that issue and have them let us know when we might reasonably expect it?

McFarlane also said that it would be useful to have whatever information we can provide on the issue of forced labor being used for the Soviet pipeline for the President's Labor Day speech. Could you pull together what you have on that by noon, Friday, 3 September, coordinating with the DDO as appropriate.
